PROFILE

I am an aspiring interior and product designer; born in the USA and currently traveling around. I am able to speak a moderate level of Italian language as well as English (native). I am very passionate about creating both aesthetically pleasing and functional designs. I am adept at every step of the design process, with particular proficiency in computer aided technology. I am skilled at working both independently and in groups, as well as communicating with a variety of clients. If you would like to see a sample of my work, please visit my website at annaguaglione.com.
